THE NEW JERSEY LONG-TERM CARE LEADERS COALITION

A collaborative group of clinical professionals dedicated to:

Encouraging communication between healthcare professionals and direct care workers in order to provide integrated care and improve resident care and quality of life.

Providing educational opportunities for healthcare professionals of multiple disciplines and direct care workers that will promote interprofessional practices and integrated quality care.

The Coalition consists of the:

- New Jersey Association of Directors of Nursing Administration/LTC
- New Jersey Medical Directors Association
- New Jersey Geriatrics Society
- New Jersey Chapter, American College of Health Care Administrators

Thursday, October 19, 2017
8:00 am - 4:30 pm

The Coalition encourages membership in one or more of the participating organizations. The success of the Coalition is dependent upon organizational membership as well as attendance at the annual conference. If you are not already a member of one of the organizations, please consider joining one or more. Applications for membership will be available at the conference or online at:

Person-Centered Care, 2017: A Bird's Eye View

In person-centered care residents and patients are supported in achieving the level of physical, mental, and psycho-social well-being that is individually practical.

Focus is on keeping the “person” at the “center” of the “care” planning and decision-making process. Active listening and observation help staff adapt to each person’s changing needs regardless of cognitive abilities.
